CASE: EF EDUCATION FIRST

Focus areas:

- You can communicate about cultural meetings.
- You can find and present travel information.
- You can write with linguistic precision.

EF Education First is the world leader in international education. EF offers language courses, cultural exchange, and academic degree programs in 10 languages across 50 destinations around the world for international students of all ages and levels. For over 50 years, their mission has been to give confidence and freedom to people of all ages, nationalities and backgrounds. With the desire to define your own path in life, and a little courage, EF opens up a world of possibilities.

ASSIGNMENT 1: ICEBREAKING

You are an EF activity leader in New York. That means you are responsible for delivering a fun and varied program of activities and excursions to a group of international students.

The students in your group have never met. On the day of their arrival in New York you want them to do an icebreaker, a fun social activity to get to know each other.

Describe an icebreaker you want to do with the students. You must describe:

- How to do the activity – what are the rules?
- Why it's a good icebreaker – how does it benefit the group?

ASSIGNMENT 2: SIGHTS OF NEW YORK

On the day after their arrival, you want to introduce the students to the city of New York.

Name two places in New York you want to take the students. Write a short and exciting description of each place to present to the students so they know what to expect.

To get an idea of how to present your ideas, read the appendix (= bilag) "LA and Grand Canyon tour".

You may use the internet or any other source to look up places to visit in New York.
